

Driver CPC

Periodic training to obtain a Driver Qualification Card

The course

All LGV drivers are required by law to complete 35 hours JAUPT approved training every 5 years. Now is the time to act. The later you leave it, the greater the chance of not completing the required training by the September 2014 deadline and risk losing your ability to drive.

Outcomes

Existing drivers will get their Driver Qualification Card (DQC) once they have completed their 35 hours periodic training. It is unlawful to drive professionally anywhere in the European Union without a DQC. (Existing drivers can use their vocational driving licence as proof of their Driver CPC, but only until 9th September 2014).

Benefits to employer and employee

The Mantra Driver CPC programme aims to ensure that both drivers and their employers benefit from safe and efficient working practices as well as improve their fuel efficiency, productivity and profitability.
