

Leading a Successful Team

DID YOU KNOW?

- A leader has to not only supervise but also play a guiding role for his/her team.
- An efficient work environment helps in sound and stable growth. Management is getting things done from people.
- Confidence is an important factor in leading a team, required when explaining clearly and giving guidelines to achieve goals effectively.

Benefits

- To increase confidence in own leadership which will help you manage your teams; recognising and utilising strengths of individuals to improve team performance
- To improve the relationship you have with your team including how to motivate them effectively in day to day operations using a variety of methods
- To manage change effectively implementing ideas and setting clear and achievable targets for teams to achieve success

Currently in a new role as team leader, the training has helped me to manage staff in an effective manner and helped me be an effective team leader, which has supported the business with my ability to perform business activities.
